UNIVERSITY OF SOUTH ALABAMA

2016 Freshman Cohort Non-returning Students: What do we know?

Executive Summary

The following report provides an analysis of 438 first-time full-time degree-seeking freshmen in the University of South Alabama (USA) 2016 freshman cohort who did not return to USA in Fall 2017. Of these non-returning students, 175 (40%) transferred to another institution prior to Fall 2017 and 263 (60%) "stopped out" or did not enroll in another college or university.

- Results indicated a large majority of transfer students transferred to another public institution located in Alabama.
- Findings showed a large percentage based differential between students who "stopped out" with a USA GPA of 2.0 or lower (37%) or students with zero to six hours earned at USA (22%) and students who transferred and had a similar USA GPA or a similar number of USA hours earned.
- Indicators for students at greater risk to "stop out" instead of transferring to another institution included students of local origin from Mobile or Baldwin County (41%) and living off campus (28%).

Overview

The following report provides an analysis of 438 first-time full-time degree-seeking freshmen in the University of South Alabama (USA) 2016 freshman cohort who did not return to USA in Fall 2017. The National Student Clearinghouse (NSC) was used to identify whether non-returning students transferred to another institution or "stopped out" and did not enroll in another higher education institution in Fall 2017. While the preference is for students to return and persist at USA, a student who transferred to another institution could be considered a secondary measure of student success.

More than 3,600 colleges and universities in the United States participate in the NSC. With NSC participating institutions enrolling over 98% of all students in public and private colleges and universities in the United States, students who were not identified as transfer students by the NSC were unlikely to be enrolled at another college or university and had "stopped out" of higher education. This report provides comparisons between 175 non-returning students who transferred to another institution prior to Fall 2017 and 263 non-returning students who "stopped out" and did not enroll at another college or university.

Where Non-returning Students Transferred

Of the 175 non-returning students who transferred, a large majority transferred to an institution with one of the following characteristics (see Table 1 and Table 2). The transfer institution was likely public (92%) and/or located in Alabama (55%). Texas (10%), Florida (10%), and Mississippi (8%) were the next most likely state locations of the transfer institution for non-returning students. Non-returning students were also more likely to attend a four-year (56%) institution.

Comparison of Non-returning Transfer Students to Students Who "Stopped Out"

Multiple characteristics of non-returning students were compared to determine what characteristics showed a large percentage based differential between 263 non-returning students who "stopped out" compared to 175 non-returning students who transferred. The following table displays characteristics with a percentage based differential of 10% or greater between students who transferred and students who "stopped out" (see Table 4 or complete data tables found in the Appendix).

Results showed the region where the student originated from, the USA GPA after the end of Summer 2017, and the probation status of the student after Fall 2016 were the top three characteristics with subgroups that showed the greatest differential between non-returning students who "stopped out" and students who transferred.

- 56% of the non-returning students who "stopped out" came from Mobile or Baldwin County (147) compared to 15% of non-returning students who transferred (26) and 46% of the non-returning students who transferred came from the rest of Alabama (80) compared to 24% of non-returning students who "stopped out" (62).
- 71% of the non-returning students who "stopped out" had a USA GPA of 2.0 or lower (178) compared to 34% of non-returning students who transferred (58), 21% of the non-returning students who transferred had a USA GPA of 2.51 to 3.0 (36) compared to 10% of non-returning students who "stopped out" (25), and 20% of the non-returning students who transferred had a USA GPA of 3.01-3.5 (34) compared to 5% of the non-returning students who "stopped out" (13).
- 58% of non-returning students who "stopped out" were placed on probation after the Fall 2016 semester (152) compared to 25% of non-returning students who transferred (43).

Five additional characteristics showed a percentage based differential greater than or equal to 10% between students who "stopped out" and students who transferred. The additional characteristics were: 1) housing (on/off campus), 2) the number of USA hours earned after the end of Summer 2017, 3) number of at-risk midterm grades in Fall 2016, 4) amount of unmet financial need, 5) the number of USA Days attended.

- 63% of the non-returning students who "stopped out" lived off campus (166) compared to 35% of non-returning students who transferred (62).
- 32% of non-returning students who "stopped out" completed zero to six USA hours earned (81) compared to 10% of non-returning students who transferred (17), 23% of non-returning students who "stopped out" had 6.5 to 12 USA hours earned (58) compared to 13% of non-returning students who transferred (22), 25% of non-returning students who transferred had 24.5 to 30 USA hours earned (42) compared to 9% of non-returning students who "stopped out" (23), and 18% of non-returning students who transferred had 30.5 and more USA hours earned (30) compared to 4% of non-returning students who "stopped out" (10).
- 36% of non-returning students who transferred had no at-risk midterm grades in Fall 2016 (63) compared to 17% of non-returning students who "stopped out" (44) and 20% of non-returning students who "stopped out" had four or more at-risk midterm grades in Fall 2016 (52) compared to 9% of non-returning students who transferred (16).
- 20% of non-returning students who "stopped out" had an unmet financial need of $5,001 to $10,000 (48) compared to 9% of non-returning students who transferred (14).
- 83% of non-returning students who "stopped out" did not attend any USA Days (219) compared to 73% of non-returning students who transferred (127) and 26% of non-returning students who transferred attended one USA Day (46) compared to 16% of non-returning students who "stopped out" (43).

Implications

Results showed a large percentage based differential between students who "stopped out" with a USA GPA of 2.0 or lower at the end of Summer 2017 (37%) and students who completed zero to six USA hours earned at the end of Summer 2017 (22%) compared to non-returning students who transferred. These students may have benefited from programs such as intrusive advising and peer mentoring to improve their likelihood of persistence at USA or to prepare them to transfer to another institution. While the preference is to encourage USA freshmen students to continue and persist at USA, a student who successfully transfers to another institution could also be considered a secondary measure of success compared to a complete "stop out" from higher education.

Early indicators for students at greater risk to "stop out" instead of transferring to another institution included students of local origin from Mobile or Baldwin County (41%) and living off campus (28%). Students with these characteristics were less likely to transfer to another institution and should be targeted early with interventions to help them persist and return to USA.
